Rye, Oh Rye

Rye IPA

ABV 7.4% • 55 IBU

Spicy, piney, full bodied

Named after Andrew's reaction to his first time brewing a Rye IPA. Brewing with malted rye grains can be a little more difficult due the nature of the grain. However, it's a good reaction. Promise. Malted rye, which has been a traditional brewing grain for many eastern European breweries for many years, adds a nice spicy character to the Summit, Citra, Simcoe, Nugget, and Chinook hops. As the temperatures start to dip this autumn our rye IPA will be sure to warm you up.
