The Quick Sell: A pilsener brewed in honor of tradition and family

Because Bohemian hops were so valued, King Wenceslas ordered the death penalty for anyone caught exporting them. Doing so obviously endeared him to the local hop growers and brewers. Once canonized as Czechoslovakia's patron saint, by extension he became the patron saint of Czech brewers. The crisp, clean character of the pilsener will be a welcome beverage on hot summer days and warm summer nights. The hop character will separate it from light hopped, well-known American lagers, while being refreshing and thirst quenching.

Food Pairings: Indian, Thai, Chinese, Japanese, Pan Asian; chicken, salmon, salads, bratwurst, sharp cheddar, blue cheese.

Great Beer for Great People.
